August and September welcome the end of summer and the beginning of fall. As we transition into the new season, here are 7 places to add to your travel bucket list:

Napa Valley, California

August through October is harvest season in the Napa Valley, making it one of the most vibrant times to visit the area. Wineries are bustling with life, the smell of grapes fill the air and Napa Valley celebrates by stomping, drinking and dining. During your excursion, surround yourself by vineyards with a stay at Alila Napa Valley in St. Helena. The property location is especially unique as it's nestled next to the legendary Beringer Vineyards, with views of the vineyard visible from nearly everywhere from the property from the guest room terraces, the pool, and even the gym. Guests at Alila Napa Valley can indulge at one of Napa Valley's most celebrated restaurants, Acacia House by Chef Chris Cosentino. Acacia House offers unique seasonally driven, farm to table dishes for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. In addition, guests can enjoy various wellbeing offerings such as daily yoga classes, creative fitness programming, complimentary bicycles and unique treatments at Spa Alila.
